"LET 'EM INVESTIGATE," SAYS W. H. WHITAKER

Occoquan Superintendent, Charged with Cruelty, Welcomes Inquiry at Any Time.

Charging W. H. Whitaker, superintendent of the District workhouse at Occoquan, Va., with inefficiency and cruelty to prisoners, Thomas Burns, a former guard at the institution, yesterday filed complaint with the Commissioners.

Commissioner Oliver P. Newman will investigate the charges. Supt. Whitaker said he welcomed an official investigation.

"These charges have been made before. I am getting accustomed to them. The more they investigate, the better I will like it," commented the superintendent.

Former Commissioner Cuno H. Rudolph investigated former guards made against Supt. Whitaker and exonerated him.

"INJUN HEAP LIKE LUNATIC."

That the Indian on the reservation is no more capable of judgment than a baby or a lunatic in so far as the improvement of his land by irrigation projects is concerned was the assertion of Senator Smith, of Arizona, during debate on the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill yesterday.

"How would you get an Indian's consent, anyhow?" he challenged. "Would you go out and chase him down and lasso him in order that you might consult with him?"

"QUIT EATING OUT OF MR. WILSON'S HAND!"

Fess Confronts Prof. Woodrow with President, Calling Latter Disloyal to Former.

HE SCORES THE CAUCUS RULE

An appeal from Woodrow Wilson, professor of political economy, to Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, was made in the House yesterday in an effort to show that in "dominating" Congress Mr. Wilson is putting into effect theories that he expounded in his college days on the lecture platform. A speech on the subject delivered by Representative Simon D. Fess, who like President Wilson placed at the head of a school of learning to enter the field of politics, kept the House in an uproar for an hour or two yesterday. Representative Fess charged that President Wilson was constantly encroaching on the field of the legislative branch of the government, and that the tendency in this direction presented a menace that had made a strong impression on thinking people. He charged that "two thirds of the members of the present House are eating out of President Wilson's hand," and that Mr. Wilson as the titular head of his party, had got into the habit of framing legislation and commanding Congress to pass it.

Prof. Fess read from a series of lectures that Prof. Wilson delivered in Columbia University in 1908.

He criticized President Wilson for calling party leaders to the White House, advising them what legislation should be passed, and then putting measures through by the caucus system.

Replying to Representative Decker, of Missouri, a Democrat, who had referred to the President's "superior qualities," Representative Fess said:

"I want to say to my friend that when he says the President is smarter than we are, he really puts the whole thing in a nutshell. The executive department is 45 plus 96, and if the legislative department, representing a single function that is cumulative, or ought to be, or its ability, is to be overborne, not by the lawmakers, but by the law enforcer, then I say that legislative function has been usurped by the Executive, and I do not believe that you think that is a good thing."

FLETCHER HEADS CONFERENCE.

Congress of Municipal Executives to Meet Here in 1915.

A cablegram received yesterday by the Southern Commercial Congress headquarters from the Anglo-American Exposition authorities, London, said that the Second International Congress of Municipal Executives will be held in Washington in September, 1915.

The first conference is now being held in London as a part of the Anglo-American Exposition. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida, was elected vice president of the second conference, and Dr. Clarence J. Owens, of Maryland, was elected director general. They will have charge of the Washington conference.

U. S. PAY FOR MEALS? NOPE!

Government employees traveling at the expense of Uncle Sam in future will be prohibited from charging the government for meals consumed on steamers where the traveling price is the same with or without meals. A decision to this effect was handed down yesterday by Comptroller of the Treasury Downey in the case of H. W. McFarren, an employee of the Department of the Interior.

REPUBLICANS WILL LET TRUST BILLS THROUGH

"There Will Be No Filibuster," Says Senator Smoot—"We Have Re-election Campaigns at Home."

PREDICTS EARLY ADJOURNMENT

Republican leaders in the Senate let the Democratic side know yesterday that there will be no filibuster on the trust bills.

Senator Smoot believes the country expects the administration to legislate, and under the circumstances he is willing they should have the responsibility.

"I intend to object to the introduction of any bills or resolutions or the transaction of any business in the Senate except necessary appropriations and conference reports until the trust bills are passed," said Senator Smoot. "There will be no filibuster."

Senator Smoot expects an early adjournment now. He said the Republicans were just as anxious as the Democrats to get home. Many of the Republican leaders have campaigns for re-election. Senators Smoot, Brandegee, Gallinger, Penrose, Cummins, Dillingham, Sherman, Grosvenor, Brister and Jones are among those who have a fight ahead for re-election.

With seven hours each day given solely to the trust bills, the Democrats think they can soon end the discussion. Under the circumstances there are predictions of an adjournment not later than September 1, and probably as early as August 25.

Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, made the principal speech on the trust bills yesterday.

Able constitutional arguments were advanced by the lawyers of the Senate on the question whether the words "unfair competition" are sufficiently definite to stand the test of the courts as to constitutionality.

Senator Weeks, in stating his opposition to the trust bills, said: "There is no public demand for it. This is evidenced by the failure of business men to appear before either the Judiciary Committee of the House or the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate in its advocacy, and by the general expression of boards of trade and chambers of commerce all over the United States in favor of a policy of much more careful and thorough investigation being made before any action is taken, even assuming that it is desirable to legislate on the subject."
